NORWAY AND VICINITY
The county commissioners have inspected the new municipal court room. The building is now nearly ready to be turned over to the tenants. The new court room will be a very convenient and attractive room. The view from the windows is on to Pike's Hill.
Beryl Foster was given a reception by sympathizers and friends, Monday evening, March 21st, at the home of her sister, Mrs. Winfield Allen at South Paris. During the evening light refreshments consisting of punch, ice cream and fancy crackers were served. Master Dale Allen in behalf of the girls in the evening room presented his aunt, Beryl, with a fine opal ring. A large number of guests were present and a delightful evening enjoyed. Miss Foster has accepted the position of assistant fore lady with the Berry Shoe Co., Portland, and will leave for there in a few days. The company departed at a late hour and all were united in wishing Beryl success and happiness in her new field of labor.

Mildred and Rouleure.
Monday evening, Mildred and Rouleure, the world famous absolute masters of mysteries, presented an excellent even ng's entertainment at the Opera House, with a fair sized audience present.

Rouleure is an artist in the art of mystifying an audience, and causing illusions and deceptions to prevail throughout the evening. Among the astonishing surprises were, My Little Mimosa, The Arrival of Rouleure, Mimosa Miracles, Fantastical Fancies, The Clown and the Bear, and A Daughter of Uncle Sam.

Among many tricks was the selection of several cards by members of the audience, and as the missing card was card was called for it rose from the pack on the stage. The fourth one came up and one card restored, but one rolled the missing card from a cigar, a 20-center, with the piece missing.

From a bottle he turned some water, and upon request turned out whatever "spilled" was desired and upon returning to the stage broke the bottle and out came a guinea pig with the ring he had borrowed from the audience about his neck.

There were tricks of all kinds with handkerchiefs, money made to come from all sources and in fact a hundred and one slight of hand tricks.

Mildred Rouleure, "the Bewildering Star of Mystery," gave an excellent exhibition of telepathic seances. She was blindfolded on the stage and as Rouleure passed through the audience, different ones told him their names, and whatever question they were thinking about, and answer the same.

Rouleure then put her to sleep, and he passed around the audience and different ones told him something they wanted her to do, and returning to the stage he pointed to the first one and Mildred went to the board and wrote the time, pointing to the second, she immediately danced the next and the next a match on the floor and returned it to the owner, and for another picked up a box of candy and counted out six pieces and returned the box, etc.

Among other specialties was the Rising Generation, which was in the form of a man who came upon the stage, and keeping time to the music gradually grew from a man of about five feet to one over eight. Several solos were sung by Mildred Rouleure, Jr., and the musical and the Maid, William and Miss Melburn caused an unlimited amount of merriment by their songs and gestures.

The last act was the flight of Princess Iris. She entered a cage and brought out a person wrapped in a sheet, and another wrapped in a red cloth. Rouleure also brought out two from the cage where apparently no one was. Rouleure and Mildred both entered the cage and soon the doors were opened and no one was there. The wrappings were taken from these persons, and they had brought to the stage from the cage and there stood Mildred and Rouleure, wrapped in the covering. How they did it—you tell.

"The Flaming Arrow"
That beautiful scenic production of the west, as it really was in the early days in the vicinity of Fort Reno when the Indians were having most frequent fighting and the United States soldiers were ever on alert. "The Flaming Arrow" will be presented at Norway Opera House on Monday evening, March 27. Although at first thought one would expect a play full of blood and thunder, it is not so, being devoid of the red coat evictions and other stereotyped features.

The plot is consistent and naturally developed; comedy and pathos are intermingled in a pleasing manner, and each act has a surprising and effective climax. The electrical and scenic effects are marvelous, in fact noncomparable.

NUMBER 12.

Adjourned Town Meeting.

The adjourned town meeting was held at the Opera House, Monday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by the moderator, A. S. Kimball, who read the article regarding the curfew law and called for the report of the committee on the same.

Goerge Howe moved the meeting adjourn indefinitely but as the moderator had called for the report it was read by Emil O. Herms and was as follows:—

Curfew Law Again.

Section 1. No child under sixteen years of age and no child attending the Norway schools shall be on or remain on any street, alley or lane or in any store, shop or in any other public place in the town of Norway between the hours of nine o'clock in the afternoon from the first day of May to the thirty-first day of October, both inclusive, or after the hour of eight o'clock in the afternoon from the first day of November to the thirty-first day of April, both inclusive, of each year, unless accompanied by a parent, guardian or other person having a legal custody of such minor, or unless the employment of such minor makes it necessary to be upon such street, alley or lane, or in such store, shop or public place after said hours.

Section 2. To aid in the practical enforcement of this by-law it is made the duty of the Selectmen of said town to cause the fire alarm signal to be sounded five times immediately after the clock on the town hall tower finishes striking the hour as indicated in section one.

Section 3. Violations of section one of this by-law shall be punished by fine not exceeding three dollars for each offense with cost of prosecution.

George Howe withdrew his motion and moved the report not be accepted but accepted but by a show of hands it was a vote that it be accepted. The committee in charge of making the curfew law was the school committee and the board of selectmen.

It was voted to appoint Judge Wm. F. Jones to take the Curfew Law to Judge Savage of the Supreme Court in session at the court house and for approval.

The meeting adjourned.

Judge A. R. Savage approved the curfew law and it was signed and sealed by him, Tuesday, at the court house.

[Communication.]

Curfew Law Again.

EDITOR ADVERTISER:—If the attempted meeting for perfecting methods of putting the Curfew Law into practice was thwarted and turned into a farce, as is reported, would it not be well to inquire into the personal reasons of the parties who so strenuously object to our attempt to protect our young folks?

If those people have any personal interest in the matter (as would appear) they should not object to the fact.

Our High school is stigmatized as "Breeders' School" by a neighboring (not neighborly) town, and it seems high time that the authorities went on record as trying to devise means to improve the deplorable condition.

Anyone who tries to obstruct such attempts must be supposed to be in favor of present state of affairs. Dollars voted, not to be considered in the matter, but the salaries of a few good officers to enforce the Curfew for awhile would be cheaper than for the town to have a few fatherless children to support, as might happen if nothing is done; and the town would also be irretrievably disgraced if they did nothing in the matter but to blantly acquiesce, and adjon!

Yours in favor of the Curfew,
CORA M. W. GREENLEAF.

Crepe Paper Hop.

A very pleasant event took place Tuesday evening at the Opera House in the form of a "Crepe Paper Hop" and was one of the prettiest dances ever held in town.

To the strains of the music furnished by Stearns' orchestra about eighty couples fell in line for the grand march, which was led by the floor manager, George L. Curtis and wife, and the aids, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ridlon, Mr. and Mrs. James N. Favour, Ronelle Bicknell and Hazel Bicknell, and Harry Luck and Ethel Flood of Oxford.

Nearly all the ladies were gowned in costumes of crepe paper and the scene was extremely pretty as the company started on the grand march. There was a handsome glare of color as the dancers moved about the hall and the rustic of the paper to the rhythm of music made the scene even more attractive and alluring.

There were costumes of every color and were made in a wide variety of styles.

There was a large number in the gallery and nearly all seats were taken.

This event was under the direction of Fred A. Cummings and was for the benefit of the Universalist church.

A Pleasant Talk.

At a recent meeting of the Barton Reading club, in addition to the regular program, Mrs. B. F. Bradbury gave a talk about her recent visit to New York, which deserves special mention. In her vivacious, pleasing manner she took her hearers with her to the different places of interest which she visited, naming several club functions, various places of entertainment and the effect of the electric lighting of streets and theaters, until the fortunate members present felt that the rising vote of thanks and hearty applause were but small return for the pleasure she had given them. Her generous sharing of a good time will be long remembered.

Mrs. Orren Tubbs.
Elizabeth Bethiah Tubbs, widow of Orren Tubbs, died at the home of her son, Orren A. Tubbs, at Portland, Saturday, March 18. She was stricken with a stroke, Wednesday.

Mrs. Tubbs was born in Norway, Aug. 10, 1827, the daughter of Nathaniel and Amelia (Wood) Horr. She attended the Norway schools, and married Orren Tubbs Oct. 18, 1848. He died, Norway, Aug. 10, 1904. They had three children: George E. Tubbs, cashier of Norway Savings bank, died Sept. 22, 1909. Mrs. Addie A. (Tubbs) Evans and Orren A. Tubbs, both of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. Tubbs lived in Gorham, N. H., forty-four years and in Lancaster, N. H., five years. They came to Norway several years ago and enjoyed their pleasant home on Beal street. Mr. Tubbs was a successful merchant all his active business life. Mrs. Evans lived with her parents and before Mr. Tubbs' death they lived in their home in Norway till last fall, when they sold their residence here and went to Portland to live with Mrs. Tubbs' son, Orren A. Tubbs. The loss by death of her husband and oldest son was a sad misfortune for her.

Mrs. Tubbs had been a devout member of the Congregational church for fifty years. She was a member of Norway Grace and W. C. T. U.

Prayers were held at her late residence in Portland, Monday, March 20th, at 2:30 p. m., by Rev. Mr. Wright. The funeral was held at the Congregational church in Norway, Tuesday, March 21st, at 1:30 p. m. Rev. R. J. Bruce spoke words of comfort to the mourning relatives and friends.

A flock of 35 wild geese was seen by Mrs. Joseph Lary at Round Pond, Wednesday morning. "The flock" saying is that when the geese begin to pass over winter is broken. In this case a good snowstorm was in progress, perhaps it is the last.

Launa N. Lovett of Camden is visiting her friend, Mrs. George T. Tubbs. They had not seen each other for over twenty years. Miss Lovett has been in Maine, looking at Kenos for several years; she has also been pastry cook at other leading hotels in Maine.

The revival meetings at the Methodist church under the leadership of Miss Frances Adams, the Traveler, are full of interest. Next Sunday evening, Miss Adams will preach on the "Ten Commandments." This is one of her strongest sermons and a crowded house is anticipated.

There will be no evening services at the Congregational church next Sunday evening as there will be other services at the Methodist church at 7 o'clock. There will be preaching by the evangelist, Frances H. Adams, who is conducting services at the church, and special music. Everybody is invited to attend these services.

Norway Sewer Charter Granted.

The legislature has granted a sewerage charter for the Norway Village Corporation. It gives privileges with eminent domain, and the right to tax a portion up to seventy-five per cent as their property may be improved also to take water for flushing purposes from the lake.

It provides that ten per cent of the cost of construction with interest charges shall be assessed each year until the bonds are paid.

The expense of putting in sewer has been estimated to be about $32,000, and ten per cent of this including interest at 4 per cent will cost $3280.00 for the first year and will be reduced ten per cent each year and in about a dozen years it will be paid.

The corporation will be asked to decide on this at the coming annual meeting. It is a question as to whether we can afford to have it or can we afford to get on without it.

It is for the voters to say. Figure it over and decide what best be done.

Dr. intelligently, realizing there will be a town and village here long after all who are now living have passed away.

The health of a community is of first consideration. What of our present method of sewerage? Is it safe? What does those who ought to know say? Investigate and vote on it intelligently.

Mr. Woodsum's home has been a home to many a young man and woman who have come to Norway to earn a livelihood and the boarder has been more like a member of the family than a stranger. He was his home his home always been open to the homeless and unfortunate and much of the time there has been such a one there, either a child or an elderly person.

Supreme Judicial Court.

March Term, 1911.

The verdict returned in the Hayford-Davis case was $820 and the case will go to the law court.

The case of Lulu L. McCrillis of Rumford vs. E. L. Tabbeta, formerly a spool manufacturer at Locke's Mills who has since the suit was brought was in the form of an action of trover to recover for certain spool bars had by the defendant. The question was the location of the line between Lot 37 in the Third Division in Rumford, owned by the plaintiff and Lot 40 in the Third Division now owned by Joseph A. Penley, but on which the birch had been sold. These lots are on the east side of Ellis river in North Rumford. A quantity of birch was cut which the plaintiff says it was sold to Mr. Stevens and George Foster for the use of the plaintiff, and Mr. Wright for defense.

Henry Nelson of Rumford was the surveyor employed by the plaintiff and W. J. Stevens was the surveyor for the defense, and each had a plan which was used in the trial. The difference in the location of the disputed line is about fifty rods.

In the course of the trial two very old documents were introduced by the plaintiff, one a book purporting to be the records of the original proprietors of the town of Rumford, beginning about 130 years ago and covering a long period; the other a plan of the town of Rumford, purporting to be a copy, and unquestioned by the plaintiff.

What of our present method of sewerage? Is it safe? What does those who ought to know say? Investigate and vote on it intelligently.

This case occupied the last hour or two of the day Thursday, last day Friday, and until nearly 11 o'clock Saturday. The jury remained out all the afternoon and was out when it came time for adjournment, so the court made arrangements for the jury to be relieved at 4 p. m. At 7:45 the jury went home, and at the expiration of court Monday morning reported that they were unable to agree.

The cases following the McCrillis-Tabbeta case were two brought respectively by R. L. Melcher and C. M. Biebee of Rumford vs. L. O. Chidley Lewiston and E. W. Gross of Auburn, which originated in deal in oil stocks. Judge Newell of Lewiston, counsel for the plaintiffs and Mr. Swasey, counsel for defendants, with all the parties, had been waiting around the court two days for these cases. When they were reached it was announced that they were in process of settlement, and a few minutes later the settlement was completed.

The next case to be tried was brought by Will Whitney of Berlin, N. H., against a factory of tombstones and marble work, against Mrs. Eleida S. Pitts of Norway, to recover for a monument ordered by her to be placed in Riverside cemetery at South Paris, which she refused to take from the factory. Whitney, her plaintiff; Hon. H. W. Oakes of Auburn for defendant.

Andy Peters, in an appeal case for single sale, retracted his plea and pleaded guilty Saturday morning, and the sentence of the lower court, a fine of $50 and costs of $7.70, was affirmed.

Alfred P. Libby pleaded to an indictment for nuisance found at the preceding term, and it was continued for sentence to be allowed to go.

William Bulman of Waterford and Alfred Bulman of Norway, boys, pleaded guilty to the charge of breaking and entering the store of Bear Mountain grange at Waterford, and stealing jackknives and other articles, and Judge Savage deferred action in their case until later.

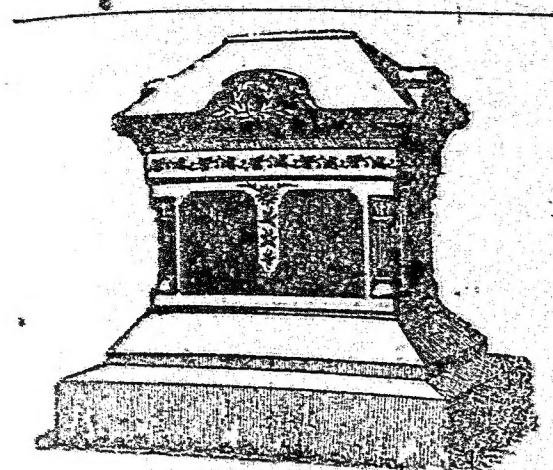

Fred Russell of Rumford pleaded not guilty to an indictment for keeping and depositing liquor. He was found guilty and fined $100.

Jay L. Gregory of Rumford was fined $100 for keeping intoxicating liquors. Sullivan Square of Rumford for keeping intoxicating liquors was fined $100.

Tuesday morning Court convened at 9:30 and after a conference of the judge and lawyers the case which was to be tried was decided to be turned over to some disinterested party, whom the judge might appoint to settle the case.

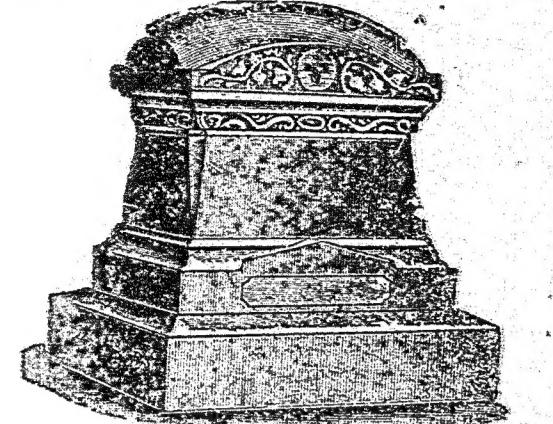

The judge then dismissed the jury thanking them for their attendance

Adventures of a Schoolma'am.

Dear ————No, I shall never forget my sojourn with you on the hill when I engaged to teach the "young idea." As I look back to those days they seem more like a grand lark than the ordinary grind of school life for the tedious part was so far outbalanced by the pleasant.

It would take a more skillful pen than mine to describe the wonderful scenery there stretched forth on every hand, but to a lowlander like myself, it was an inspiration whenever I gazed over the countless hills rolling away in the distance surrounded by Mt. Washington's dim outline; or to gaze down onto the lakes below, reflecting the sky in all its moods. How I loitered home, or rather to your home, nights after school taking in long, deep breaths of freedom after the day spent indoors with the children and the books.

Yes, I remember the first day's experience at school, with the stifling chimney flue that smoked us all out of doors, but it was none of my flock that performed this deed of "excellence." Of course it was laid to the "loopy" boy who lived in the neighborhood. All the misdemeanors committed in the community were laid to him and he was very handy in this respect. I remember the strange way he had of appearing suddenly when no one knew he was around and the uncanny way he stared at people. He seemed harmless enough, however, and called me "teacher" in the most respectful manner.

Not to be forgotten were the May basket parties. Do you remember one right when I was expecting? May basket, we listened at the crack of the door for the approach of the hangers, how John stopped the old tall clock so that we could hear better? I had heard that the party was coming so had engaged John and George to help do the "catching."

Then when we were chasing them, part of the supposed boys turned out to be girls dressed in trousers.

That party adjourned to the big barn floor to play games and I remember just as we were well under way, a flood of water came pouring down on our unsuspecting heads. One of the boys unseen had climbed up on the great beams with a pail of water and proceeded to baptize the helpless victims below.

In the fall term came the husking parties. You had two while I was there, a big one to which everyone was invited and a great feast of baked beans and three days' cooking was spread; also a smaller one where there were only a "select" few.

There was one scene at the small party which remains indelible in my memory. I can shut my eyes now and see that little party gathered around husking out the long yellow ears of corn in the circle of the lantern's light, our fantastic shadows dancing on the dim walls and ceiling.

Someone started a song and everyone joined in. Then you began singing a hymn, Mr. J. took the bass, John the tenor and I romped in on the alto when ever I knew the words. Ever since that night for me that hymn has been a classic. Its unadorned melody revealed a harmony and strength unknown to many a greater composition. Its simplicity and sincerity were in accord with the setting we gave it gathered around in the dim light. Like the strain of the hymn our work too, was simple, sincere and necessary, therefore beautiful.

I must close now. Ever yours,
G. I. B.

When Father was Elected.
Pa he's been elected master of the grange, and oh, the way he puts on airs you'd think it somewhat strange.
He parts his hair in the middle and wears a bright necktie and when he meets any body, he holds his head very high. He attends all the grange meetings, for miles and miles around he says it gives him courage and learns him how to till the ground.

But I don't think its that at all. I think its the food he feeds. He goes to feed his stock, instead of to feed his mind. He goes away and leaves the chores and I have them all to do.
But when he comes home he says he's glad he went, for he learned a lot that was new. He never practices what he learns, that's why I think its strange, that he says it educates him, to just attend the grange. But if your pa ever gets elected you'll find it just as I say, and how you'll dread the coming of old grange meeting day.

wedding celebration and not for the purpose of sale. The court continued the matter to the May term.

George H. Seavey was arraigned on two indictments for a criminal assault upon one Mahaley Armstrong, a girl of ten years of age. He pleaded not guilty. The court directed that in case Seavey, who has been in jail for several months, wished to furnish bail for the trial, commissioners fix the sum at $1500 on both indictments.

Two victims were brought by Deroy C. Nason and Walter Dergan in suit against Ernest L. Pike of Waterford which were defaulted and judgement given for the plaintiff at the October term of court. When the execution had been levied on his property Pike brought action in review to be entered at this term of court. After a hearing, the judge decided that he was not entitled to a review under the circumstances as it was his fault in not having his action answered to at the October term.

Spring Debility

Is due to the debilitating weather of the season, and to the impure, impoverished, devitalized condition of the blood caused by too close confinement, too little outdoor air and exercise, too heavy diet during the winter.
It is cured by the great constitutional remedy

Hood's Sarsaparilla

which effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than twenty different ingredients. There is no real substitute for Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is inferior, costs less to make, and yields the dealer a larger profit. 100 Doses $1.

A Masquerade Ball.

From any angle of vision the masquerade ball given at Grange hall, South Waterford, on the evening of the 16th inst. was a pronounced success. More than forty couples were present, parties coming from Lovell, Sweden, Harrison and Bridgton to join with those from the different sections of Waterford.

Many of the costumes were excellent and all were much better than are usually seen on such occasions. Among them we noticed that of Marion Noble representing a lady of color; Mrs. H. C. Smith, a Spanish lady; Harriet Smith, evening star; Mrs. Wm. Jenkins, Nun; Mrs. W. J. Green, Gipsy; Mrs. W. Goodwin, Dutch woman; Mrs. Geo. Hill, lady of color; Mrs. G. H. Hill, Martha Washington; Mary Wiley, autumn; Mrs. Leon York, flower girl; Leola Sanderson, Queen of Hearts; Mrs. Arthur Kingman, flower girl; Bertha Bell, Queen of Hearts; Eva, Good, flower girl; Miss E. Young, Night; Miss B. Young, Japanese girl; Wm. Coyle, George Washington; Horace Smith, sunflower; Albert Hamlin, fool; C. Smith, clown; C. H. Hill, Monk; George Hill, Jack of Clubs; Arnold Abbott, clown; W. Haggood, gentleman of color; A. Kingman, gentleman of color.

The affair was under the management of H. C. Smith, who also furnished the refreshments. Everything passed off in a very smooth and satisfactory manner. Excellent music was furnished by the Packard family orchestra and participants and spectators were unanimous in the sentiment that it was one of the most enjoyable social events of the season, and will welcome the announcement of others of a similar nature.

Resubmission.

So we are really going to have resubmission. But why? It seems to me there are lots of more amusing and less harmful ways in which our worthy legislators might have whittled away the time, even if they had to do something useful to the state, something of genuine benefit to their constituents. Far be it from me to criticize, adversely, the honorable body, (the word body in this instance does not necessarily imply the usual complement of head and brain,) but I think they might have better spent their time in investigating the deplorable state of our highways, and in devising means and ways of giving us better roads, on a more satisfactory method than is employed at present. It might serve as a pastime anyhow.

But no, they think we need resubmission, and the chance of getting more run perhaps, more than we need good roads.

As if there wasn't drunkenness enough in the state as it is!

Yes, they say, that is the trouble, prohibition is a failure, fails to prohibit. Well, what of it? If one finds a weak point in a fence where the dogs get thro', do they destroy the fence entirely on that account? Or do they mend it?

Our laws against larceny, arson, murder are all failures to a greater or less extent. Why not do away with them and license these crimes too, on grand local option, etc. It looks just as logical to me.

But, you say, if people want to use alcoholic liquors, they've a right to. Never! No one has any right or shadow of a right to tear down, or weaken in any way, shape, or manner, the safeguards of the rising generation. The more difficult it is to procure the stuff, the less temptation is flaunted in their faces, the safer our growing boys are from its debasing influence.

When the state makes it lawful, it sets the seal of its approval on it and makes it respectable; and our young men and women need then feel no more delicacy about ordering a gin fizz or whiskey cocktail and drinking them in public than they now do about an ice cream soda, if they are logical.

It is claimed we should have purer liquors, less harmful than the beverages that now masquerade as rum, whiskey etc.

I fail to see any advantage in that. Why, you say, it won't be so poisonous. Well, where's the advantage or benefit?

Liquor is not harming the useful members of the community to any noticeable extent, and the "undesirable citizens" who are in danger from it, can well be spared. The only trouble I can see is, the stuff is not half poisonous enough! Rabid? Not a bit of it. When they make it rank enough, the devotees will be all killed off in a manner that will hold no inducements, nor allurements, to win more beginners; and then, good bye Intemperance!

That will be near the time when there is no more sorrow and our tears will be wiped away.

SOUTH PARIS.

The "Cotton King."
A. D. Cotton of Windsor, Vt., who was a guest here last winter at the home of his wife's father, Hiram Parker, Esq., has just been elected first trustee of Windsor village, having the largest majority ever given a trustee.

Cotton holds many positions of honor and trust. He is the grandson of Aaron Davis, Sr., of Woodstock.

The following is from the Vermont Journal:
I've been down to the meetin' wife, And such a rush and roar As echoed round the old town hall Was never heard before.

The working men had all turned out And now the song they sing "Labor runs this town today" And Cotton still is "King."

Oh, wife, you ought to have been there, When the clerk got up to say That the votes had all been counted Every way and every day And when the result was given out You should have seen the ring They faced away, like the working man's pay, And Cotton still is "King."

Harry J. Field of Boston has been visiting friends.

Mrs. Roy H. Curtis and little daughter are visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. U. Tyler.

Geo. McGinley is working for Arthur U. Tyler, finishing his dairy room and ice house.

Alfred Jackson will open a grocery store recently occupied by A. E. Shurtleff & Co.

Raymond W. Penfold went to Portland, Friday, for a week's vacation visiting to his brother, Ralph B. Penfold, and family.

Rev. E. A. Davis has accepted the invitation of the G. A. R. Post No. 63 of Sumner to deliver the Memorial day oration.

About twenty Masons from South Paris attended the annual meeting of Oxford Council, R. A. M., at Norway, Friday evening. The Council was visited by the Right Illustrations Grand Master Companion James H. Witherell, who installed the newly elected officers, after which a banquet was served.

Friday evening a large assembly of Pythians, their families and friends gathered at Pythian Hall to enjoy Homing Night. The address of Welcome was given by J. A. Kenney, followed by a solo by Ruby Clark, with violin obligato; a solo by Marion Everett; a reading by Frank Starbird and a solo by Helen Barnes. Howard Shaw's orchestra played during the evening, and games also were enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

A Helpless Invalid

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound
A woman who is sick and suffering, and won't at least try a medicine which has the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is, it would almost seem, to blame for her own wretchedness. Read what this woman says:

Richmond, Mo.—"When my second daughter was eighteen months old I was pronounced a hopeless invalid by specialists. I had a consultation of doctors and they said I had a severe case of ulceration. I was in bed for ten weeks, had sinking spells, and was pronounced to be in a dangerous condition. My father insisted that we try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and brought me six bottles. I soon began to improve, and before it had all been taken I was as well and strong as ever—my friends hardly recognized me so great was the change."—Mrs. Woodson Branstetter, Richmond, Mo.

There are literally hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

Read what another woman says:—

Jonesboro, Texas.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for myself and daughter, and consider it unequalled for all female diseases. I would not be without it for anything. I wish every mother in America could be persuaded to use it as there would be less suffering among our sex then. I am always glad to speak a word of praise for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and you are at liberty to use this testimonial."—Mrs. James T. Lawrence, Jonesboro, Texas.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering from the same trouble?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice—it is free and always helpful.
